

HUSH SCANDAL IN BIG TRUST

The Ship Building Case Was Taken Out of Court by Mutual Agreement Today.

SCHWAB PAYS ALL

Will Settle for $150,000 Lawyers' Fees Incurred in the Litigation Already.

New York, Nov. 19.—The statement printed nearly two weeks ago that a settlement was in progress in the United States Shipbuilding company's scandal has been filed and the two contending sides got down to a definite agreement as to terms. In consequence of this the hearing which was set before United States Special Examiner Oliphant will not take place. It is not expected that any other hearings will be held.

The settlement virtually reached concludes the most remarkable investigation that was ever made into the affairs of Wall street, and, to the regret of many members of the New York stock exchange, it will prevent a complete exposure of the doings of the many big men who figured in the shipbuilding scandal.

Terms of Settlement.

It is understood that the terms of settlement are as follows:

1. That William D. Guthrie, counsel for Charles M. Schwab, Max Pam and the shipbuilding company, will confess judgment in the case.
2. That the legal fees and other expenses attendant upon the enormous amount of litigation, which the complaining first-mortgage bondholders were put to, will be paid by the Schwab party. These expenses are said to amount to perhaps $150,000.
3. That the holdings of the complaining bondholders who wish to sell their bonds will be purchased on a basis of 90. These bonds have recently sold in the market at 14.

Admits Insolvency.

By confessing judgment the Schwab party will acknowledge that the shipbuilding company is now insolvent, and that the temporary receivership should be made permanent. When the order confessing judgment is filed with Judge Kirkpatrick of the United States Circuit court of New Jersey it is expected that he will make James Smith, Jr., permanent receiver.

While much testimony of a startling character was brought out at the previous hearings, the facts unveiled, and which will remain hidden if the settlement is perfected, are even of a more extraordinary nature. It is believed that had these facts been brought out a condition of affairs would have been exposed that would have caused the district attorney to take cognizance of the matter and place it before the grand jury.

Facts That Are Covered.

Had the investigation gone on, Mr. Schwab, Mr. Pam, John W. Gates and George W. Perkins would have had to go on the stand and submit to examination as to their respective actions in the case of the shipbuilding company prior to the collapse of that corporation.

Mr. Perkins would have been called upon to explain all about the secret selling agreement made with Harris, Gates & Co., by which the $20,000,000 of stock of the shipbuilding company given Mr. Schwab and J. P. Morgan & Co. as a bonus, was to be sold before the holdings of any other person in the shipbuilding company could be marketed.

WILL HANG HORN FOR CERTAIN NOW

A Lively Fight Is Liable To Take Place in Cheyenne Tomorrow.

(Special By Scripps-McRae.)

Cheyenne, Nov. 19.—Deputy sheriffs from nearby cities are flocking into Cheyenne to aid the militia in preventing an attempt to rescue Tom Horn tomorrow. The excitement is intense and orders to shoot all persons unable to account for themselves when ordered to halt, have been issued. Every avenue to the jail is guarded by soldiers and cannon. Sheriff Smalley anticipates serious trouble tonight and tomorrow. The city is filling with strangers. Armed cowboys are coming in from the nearby ranches. If they attack the jail Horn will be shot in his cell by his guard. Governor Chatterton has received letters threatening his life within 24 hours if Horn is hung. Horn himself is confident he will not hang tomorrow. He has refused the services of a priest.

Twelve University of Wisconsin professors will take part in discussions at the joint meeting of the American Economic association and the American Historical association at New Orleans, Dec. 29 to Jan. 1.

LITTLE HOPE FOR PEACE IN STREET-CAR STRIKE

Mayor and Aldermen Fail to Secure Concessions From Officials of the Company.

Chicago, Nov. 19.—After a series of conferences lasting throughout the day and well into the night, the aldermanic committee that is striving for arbitration of the street railway strike last night felt that its labors had served but to intensify a strained situation.

Probabilities of peace have disappeared. Instead, the prospects for a bitter struggle are more distinct than before. To all of the entreaties and arguments, and even threats, of Mayor Harrison and his committee the officials of the railway company lent a courteous ear. But not one necessary concession was made, nor could be found a common ground on which the strikers and the company could meet.

When at 10:30 o'clock last night Mayor Harrison, weary and hollow-eyed, emerged from his room in the city hall, he shook his head despairingly.

"The outlook for peace," he said, "is less hopeful even than it was yesterday."

Earlier in the evening the strikers were made jubilant by the receipt of a telegram from the railway employees of San Francisco.

"If you need funds, draw on us for $31,000," the message read.

Almost at the same hour the teamsters' union of Chicago was passing resolutions refusing to in any way aid or assist the railway company while the strike is in progress.

While fruitless proposals were being made on behalf of the company and men within the city hall, the corporation was operating more cars than at any time since the strike began. On Wentworth avenue, Cottage Grove avenue and the Indiana avenue line cars were being run.

There is little violence on the part of strikers or their sympathizers. Cars continue to run under police guard with but few passengers.

BREWERY MAN TAKEN TO COURT

Charles Mower, Delivery Man for the Blatz Co., Must Appear in Test Case.—City Wants $500 License.

Charles Mower, who drives the wagon for the Blatz Brewing Co., was taken to municipal court yesterday on the charge of delivering beer without a license. His trial was set for next Tuesday. The action is taken in accordance with the city's policy to compel the brewer's having depots here to pay a license fee of $500 annually. The Gund Brewing company of La Crosse and the Schlitz people maintain depots here.

SPARKS FROM THE WIRES

Owing to a misplaced switch an engine on the Illinois Central was overturned at Douglas and S. E. Flannigan, fireman, of Centerville, Ill., was crushed to death.

New York is to be the home of the most costly clubhouse for workmen in the United States. The clubhouse is to be five stories high, 100x102 feet in area and is to cost $200,000. Facilities for mental and physical culture are to be the best obtainable.

The grand jury at St. Paul, Minn., returned three indictments against Caspar Ernst, now in jail on charges of embezzlement and forgery. Ernst was once reputed to be wealthy. Two of the indictments charge him with having embezzled $900 belonging to Rev. J. B. Metzler of Chippewa Falls, Wis.

Secret service agents in New York raided the apartments of Mrs. Josie Diondo, who had been arrested for attempting to pass counterfeit coin. They found metal molds and formulas for the composition of counterfeit coin; also four big sticks of dynamite weighing six pounds, a coil of fuse and a supply of fulminating caps. The woman's husband was arrested. The family has Mafia connections.

O. S. Clark and William D. Lord, inmates of the state prison at Stillwater, Minn., committed forgery to considerable amounts while in prison and were indicted by the grand jury. They pleaded guilty and were sentenced to two more years in prison, to begin when their present terms expire. Clark was charged with forging a draft for $455, purporting to be drawn on Larabee Brothers of Deer Lodge, Mont., and Lord forged a draft for $204. These drafts were sent to friends outside and were cashed.

BAENSCH TO RUN

Former Lieutenant Governor Emil Baensch Announces His Desire for Nomination for Governor Next Year—Came Out Last Night in Die Germania.

Former Lieutenant Governor Emil Baensch of Manitowoc has announced that he will be a candidate for the nomination of governor of the state of Wisconsin at the next republican state convention. The announcement was made yesterday in Milwaukee and was published first in the Germania which has for many years been a firm believer in Mr. Baensch's ability and powers. The announcement is as follows:

"We are authorized to state that Judge Emil Baensch, in response to an urgent request from influential members of the republican party in all sections of the state, soon will formally announce that he will consent to become a nonfractional candidate for the nomination for governor."

Well Received.

The announcement does not come as a surprise to the men who have supported Senator Spooner in the past and many of them have written Mr. Baensch that they will support him in his coming fight. Mr. Baensch is a strong man for the position and little ability. He has served as lieutenant who will do great credit to the position if nominated.

MORE CARS GOING ON LINES TODAY

SOUTH SIDE TRACTION COMPANY INCREASES SERVICE.

HALSTED LINE IS RUNNING

But Few Disturbances Are Reported to the Police, Even Though District Is Tough.

(Special By Scripps-McRae.)

Chicago, Nov. 19.—With the talk of extending the street car strikes to all the surface and elevated lines in the city, renewed efforts are being made this morning by the mayor and aldermanic mediation committee to settle the trouble. An early conference with the railway officials was arranged. The prospects of peace, however, are not very bright, notwithstanding the complete unionization. The union teamsters today joined hands with the strikers, every member of the teamsters' organization now refusing to haul any goods or supplies of any kind to or from the shops, barns, power-house or offices of the company. The cars started on the Halsted street line this morning. Five hundred policemen guarded the cars and tracks. The police expected serious trouble, because this line runs through a tough district, but the first trip downtown was made without any incident beyond the arrest of several obstructive teamsters.

MURDERER IS AGAIN REPRIEVED

Yates Postpones Date of Negro's Execution to Allow Appeal.

Peoria, Ill., Nov. 19.—Adjutant General Thomas W. Scott arrived from Springfield and immediately called upon Sheriff Potter, to whom he handed an official notice, signed by Governor Yates granting an additional reprieve of two weeks for John McCray, the negro murderer, who was to have been hanged here Oct. 30, but who has been granted a reprieve until Dec. 11. This last reprieve is granted by the governor upon the recommendation of the state board of pardons, which has been investigating the case upon the motion of the attorneys for McCray, who asked for a commutation of the sentence to life imprisonment. The pardon recommends that the case be heard by the Supreme court.

DEATH FOLLOWS GAME OF CARDS WITH PRIEST

Catholic Pastor and Parishioners Are Fatally Wounded in Duel in Former's Apartments.

Denver, Colo., Nov. 19.—Rev. Felix M. Lepore, pastor of Mount Carmel Catholic church, and another Italian named Joe Sorici were fatally wounded in a fight supposed to have arisen over a card game they were playing in the priest's apartments in the church building.

Father Lepore was shot twice in the abdomen and once in the face and Sorici was shot once in the abdomen. There seem to have been no eyewitnesses to the affair and all those who were near the scene are Italians and are reticent about the shooting. Both men were taken to St. Joseph's hospital, where it is said they cannot recover.

No statement has been secured from the wounded men. Father Lepore has been a resident of Denver for many years. Sorici is said to have recently come here from Pittsburgh. The two men have been friends.

BUTTER MAKERS UNDER SUSPICION

Inferior Wisconsin Products Are Now Being Sold Upon the Chicago Markets.

Government officials have been investigating the making of whey butter in this state and report that enormous quantities of it are being manufactured all through the cheese districts. The revenue agents have reported that at least 135 factories are engaged in this illicit manufacture. Revenue Collector Fink is now awaiting a decision by the department at Washington which will authorize him to collect tax and penalty, which amounts to 10 cents a pound. An inferior butter is made from the whey, which is largely sold in Chicago at half the price of pure butter.

RATIFIES PACT WITH PANAMA

Secretary Hay and Minister Varilla Signed Important Document Last Night.

FAVOR UNCLE SAM

It Provides for an American Court, and Also for a Strip of Land on the Isthmus

Washington, Nov. 19.—Secretary of State Hay and Philippe Bunau-Varilla, the minister from Panama, signed the isthmian canal treaty here at Secretary Hay's residence. It is believed that the Panama special commission, which has arrived here has been empowered to ratify the treaty, and this may be done at once.

In its general outlines the new convention is patterned after the Hay-Herran treaty, with the exception that it follows not only the spirit but the letter of the Spooner act. Thus, instead of a lease for a fixed period, it provides for a perpetual lease of the right of way to the United States. This gives the United States absolute sovereignty in a tract that probably will be about ten miles wide.

United States to Rule.

Instead of a complicated provision for courts of mixed composition—half American and half Colombian—to administer justice over the canal strip, the new treaty permits the United States government to exercise the most complete jurisdiction. The United States may fortify the line and the terminals, and may police it with troops.

The two terminal cities of Panama and Colon pass completely under United States jurisdiction, which incidentally may involve the establishment of a new capital for the republic of Panama outside of the canal strip. The money consideration is understood to be the same, only Panama, instead of Colombia, is to receive the $10,000,000. The canal is to be neutral and open to all nations on even terms.

May Withhold Treaty.

The President has not determined when the convention shall be submitted to the senate for ratification. His present purpose is to withhold it until there is reasonable assurance that its consideration will not obstruct any of the legislation for which the present special session of congress has been called.

Official reply was made to the note presented by United States Minister Beaupre informing the Colombian government that Washington had entered into official relations with the republic of Panama. The reply was framed by Senator Carlos Ricos, Minister of Foreign Affairs, who vigorously defends his government and threatens to march an army on Panama unless the United States immediately recedes from its position.

Colombia's Protest.

The minister in his note to the United States through Mr. Beaupre says: "The Colombian government protests energetically to the attitude taken by the United States. By the recognition of Panama and the warning that the United States will not allow Colombia to put down the rebellion the heretofore friendly relations existing between the two governments have arrived at such a critical state that it is absolutely impossible to continue diplomatic relations, unless the Washington government should immediately give notice that it has no intention to prevent Colombia from retaking the isthmus or to extend any recognition to the belligerents."

The note concludes by stating that "a prompt reply is awaited from Washington as the Colombian army is ready to march on Panama at once."

Persons aiding or abetting the escape of offenders under this law are to be tried as principals. A twenty-year imprisonment penalty is prescribed against teaching anarchistic doctrine.

JANESVILLE HAS NO SUICIDE CLUB

BUT YOUNG GIRLS ARE SEEKING "POISON" ROAD TO NOTORIETY.

CASE OF THE KINNIE GIRL

Found Bottle of Strychnine Back of Junk Shop, and Was Tempted to Try It—Her Terrible Convulsions.

A young girl struggling with terrible convulsions with two men trying to hold her down on a couch was the spectacle that greeted Dr. Walter D. Merritt as he stepped into the kitchen of Orin Wheelock's home at 255 Ringold street, shortly after noon yesterday. Mrs. Miller, the housekeeper, her daughter, Hazel, who attempted to poison herself with strychnine a fortnight ago, a sister, and a little child made up the group that were looking on somewhat curiously, but with the air of those accustomed to such harrowing sights. The little child dropped her plate of griddle-cakes and said she didn't want to stay in the kitchen. But on the faces of the others no traces of any emotion whatever could be discovered.

Attempt at Suicide.
The girl who was struggling on the couch was a mere child of seventeen. Yet two men found great difficulty in restraining her. After a few moments a relaxation came and she opened her eyes and began to wail bitterly, asking those around her not to allow her father, whom she supposed to be present, to take her away. Dr. Merritt perceived at first glance that she had taken poison and prepared to administer a hypodermic injection.

Third Effort.
The child's name is Hattie Kinnie and she is a daughter of Mrs. Lou Kinnie who resides on Clifton street, not far from the Wheelock home. She found a bottle marked "poison" and which contained strychnine on the premises of a junk shop on South Franklin street Tuesday afternoon. While riding home with Hazel Miller and Orin Wheelock she swallowed a portion of the contents. She was taken violently ill upon her arrival at the house and the physician was sent for and arrived on the scene just in time to save her life. This is the third effort the girl has made to end her life.

Rough on Rates.
Two weeks ago the child was caught in the act of preparing a dose of rough on rats by Mrs. Miller and the poison was taken away from her after a few words of advice had been given her. Her act yesterday was the result of the fear that overtook her after a visit with her mother, whom her father has forbidden her to see.

Reform School.
After she had been relieved yesterday morning the girl made a confession to the doctor. Her mother and father have not lived together for some time and Hattie says that she saw the latter Tuesday and that he told her that if she saw or had anything to do with her mother he would first whip her and then send her to the reform school. She had seen her mother and was afraid that he would carry out his threat.

Wanted to Die.
The child apparently wanted to die and when no one was looking yesterday morning she slipped out of the house, took the poison bottle from its hiding place, and swallowed what remained of the strychnine. She promises, however, that she would make no further attempts.

Love Affair.
Hazel Miller who attempted to take her life on account of disappointment over a love affair says that everything has been righted now and she has decided to live. She says she wanted to die at the time but thinks it just as well that she didn't. When asked if she thought she would ever attempt to poison herself again she said that she couldn't say. She denied knowing anything about the attempt made by the Kinnie girl.

Absurd Theory.
The influence of the Miller girl's example undoubtedly led the younger girl to attempt to end her troubles in a similar manner. The motives to each, however, were entirely different and no one in the neighborhood believes that there had been any agreement made between them.

SEVEN CITIES OF THE SAME NAME

Janesville is No Unpopular, But This Janesville the Only City.

There are only seven Janesvilles in the United States according to the latest atlas. Of course there is only one live up-to-date Janesville, and that is Janesville, Wisconsin. The name does not seem to be a very general one although the seven towns are well distributed over Uncle Sam's dominions. In the majority of cases, probably originated from an early settler. Janesville has found lodgment in six states, two of the name, in one state. They are Pennsylvania, Illinois, Iowa, Minnesota, California and Idaho.

Our own Janesville has more people and more business than all the others rolled into one and some left over besides. It got an early start, and was peopled by enterprising pioneers and nature was kind in the location. There is only one city in all the list of Janesvilles, and that is Janesville, Wisconsin.

The people of this city know what makes it great or some of the things that go to assist towards that end, but the recital of a few may not be amiss. The purest water in the country, electric lights like a necklace of diamonds, streets that can hardly be excelled, nearness to the world's markets with ample railroad facilities, a good interurban railway service, not to mention a finely equipped local line, diversified manufacturers, good government and a thousand things which go to make life pleasant and livable.

The Janesville which comes nearest to this city in point of size is located in Waseca county, Minnesota. It is near a river too, and is the business center of the county. The population in 1902 was 1251. The other town in Minnesota of the same name is located in Crow Wing county and is only a post office with a population of less than a hundred.

There is a Janesville in Clearfield county, Pennsylvania, which in 1902 was credited with a population of 207 and has two churches. At any rate, the spiritual needs of the Janesvilles are looked after.

Janesville, Cumberland county, Illinois, has 217 souls so beats the Pennsylvania town by a very few. Out in Iowa, in Bremer county is a Janesville which is not in size to the Rock county city after the Minnesota town for it had a population one year ago of 311. In California, Lassen county, is a still smaller Janesville which is next in size to men and children. The last Janesville to be recorded is in Idaho, Latah county, and this burg has less than one hundred citizens. The larger town in Minnesota is frequently confused with this city and in a number of instances, packages addressed to the Wisconsin city have landed in the Minnesota town.

ARE SILKS HIDDEN NEAR JANESVILLE?

Station Agents Within Radius of Twenty Five Miles, Report No Shipments Since Saturday.

Detective John Broderick, several central detectives, and members of the Cook county sheriff's force, are assisting Sheriff Appleby and J. M. Dostwick in their search for the silks and furs stolen from the latter's store last Saturday night. Their researches thus far have convinced them that the goods have not yet arrived in Chicago, according to a letter received from the Rock county sheriff by Chief of Police Hogan.

Goods Still Nearby.
Last Monday, upon the discovery of the robbery, Chief Hogan sent letters to all station agents within a radius of twenty-five miles, advising them of the robbery, and asking them to immediately inform him whether or not any suspicious merchandise had been shipped from their stations. Negative answers were received from all of them. They were also admonished to keep a sharp lookout in the future. It is just possible that the goods are still kept in hiding not very far from Janesville.

WITH LINK Gossip of Interests to Railroad AND PIN. Men.

North-Western Road.
While it was still dark Wednesday morning, the big Class R locomotive No. 331, Engineer Gosselin, backing into Janesville from Beloit smashed into two gondolas loaded with coal at the Five Points crossing and telegraphed them. The whole end and sills of one were broken, but neither car was thrown off the track. The locomotive's draw-bar was broken but no further injuries were sustained. The cars were soon pulled apart and hauled to the yards for repairs.

General Foreman Thomas Erickson is mourning over the loss of a handsome black cocker spaniel which was recently secured in Fond du Lac and presented to him by Engineer Haggar. The dog had been tied for a week and was first let out Sunday morning. A blue ribbon was tied about the animal's neck at the time.

The fish in the round house park fountain have survived the cold spell but their sluggish movements show that they are none too pleased with the weather. It was planned today to remove all but the gold fish to Fond du Lac where they will spend the winter. The gold fish belong to Engineer Brazzel and he will keep them indoors until spring.

A portion of the new $5,000,000 bond issue of the Lake Shore may be used in acquiring the Toledo, St. Louis and Southwestern, with a view to removing it from the eastern field as a disturbing element. Vice President Loomis, however, denied that the president is to leave the company.

MUCH INTEREST IN PRESENT CROP

A PROMINENT TOBACCO BUYER EXPLAINS MANY NEW FACTS.

FARMERS MAY DO ASSORTING

This Would Do Away with the Great Packing Houses to a Certain Extent, at Least.

A great deal of interest is manifested in the 1903 crop now hanging in the sheds of Wisconsin farmers. In fact all the business men, as well as the farmers, are asking the dealers when will the buyers commence contracting for this crop. At this time a year ago fully three-fourths was purchased and farmers urged to deliver in December, in order that the assorting rooms might be started earlier. Today there seems to be no inclination to assort early, while many dealers say they prefer not to assort but to let the farmer assort it. What is the reason for all this change? After asking this question of several dealers, I frame their answer about as follows:

Purchased Early.
The 1900 and 1902 crops were purchased and received early from the farmer, and filters containing rust, ground trash leaves and high case stock, were all received at 2c per pound. Both of these packings turned out musty fillers and were sold at a great loss. A careful sampler estimates that 90 per cent of the 1902 fillers are musty. This defect is not confined to fillers alone but many of the best grades also are musty and worthless. One dealer found three crop lots, all raised in one neighborhood, badly musty. After a careful investigation, he discovered that these three men had sprinkled snow through the tobacco when stripping and bundling the same. Possibly these men gained $15.00 by doing this, and damaged the dealer, who purchased and packed the tobacco, at least $1200. These are not imaginary figures but an every day fact, and the experience of more than one dealer, it being common practice with too many to use snow or water to ease up the tobacco.

Second Reason.
Another reason for not buying the present crop is that it contains a great deal of muddy tobacco caused by being cut down and left out in the rains when harvesting. This muddy stock should not be bunched in with the good tobacco but kept out and tied in bales by itself, as muddy tobacco is not considered worth packing. The fillers of this crop no doubt, would be worth baling for trash, but in most crops it will not pay to tie them in bales, as they are too thin and lack gum to pass through a clean sweat.

Third Reason.
Another reason was given that the Wisconsin warehouses are filled with old stock, and notwithstanding the continued reports from the east as to the scarcity of good binder stock, our dealers will require from a year to eighteen months to sell and make room for the present crop.

Last Reason.
The last reason given and by no means the least, is that the present condition of the money market demands a high rate of interest and good securities asked, which will necessarily keep quite a number from speculating in tobacco who otherwise might purchase.

Up to Grower.
One thing the grower must do, is to take this crop down in low case, using no snow or water, baling it up in a clean workmanlike manner, throwing out all trashy ground leaves, and never allowing a wet leaf to get into the bales.

Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney and Bladder Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.

Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh, or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a Home of Swamp-Root pamphlet telling all about Swamp-Root, including many of the thousands of testimonials received from sufferers cured. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N.Y., be sure and mention this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N.Y., on every bottle.

WERE MARRIED IN ROCKFORD

Brooklyn Couple Made Happy in Forest City.

Rockford is a favorite plan for Wisconsin couples to go for marriage licenses and hardly a day passes but at least one couple appears before the county clerk for the coveted paper. The frequent visitations of the Forest City by love-lorn Badger state youths and maidens has lead one of the papers in that town to reserve a special column for the notices and have the following regular head items, "The Daily Wisconsin Wedding."

Jack Frost did not dishearten one pair yesterday for Jens P. Anderson and Miss Tillie Jacobson of Brooklyn put in an appearance and after securing a license were married in the afternoon.

MOLASSES FOR HORSES

Recently scientific tests have been made as to what is the best food for horses that are thrifty or sick. Instead of feeding them oats or corn, Molasses Food is given with the most gratifying results. A horse that weighed 800 pounds gained 40 pounds in two weeks on a molasses diet, and in a month he had added nearly 100 pounds to his weight. All signs of disease disappeared and his new coat of hair was glossy and beautiful. This experiment was but one of hundreds, all showing the wonderful curative and health giving properties of Molasses Food. Farmers, livestockmen and others who own horses should give the Molasses Food a test. It is clean and if as recommended by scientists, it can re-make and re-build run-down horses. It will prove invaluable to owners of horse flesh. This feed for sale at

...Forty Years Ago...

Janesville Daily Gazette, Thursday November 19, 1863.—Prof. Liberman lectures at the court room tonight. Subject—Why the south is wrong—the north right.

Sharp Letter From Gen. Carl Schurz.—Camp Near Chattanooga, November 6, 1863.—To the Editors of the Louisville Journal: In your paper of November 3d, I see a letter signed by Mr. Leslie Combs, in which the following allusion is made to me: "Our children have fought in every battle-field, and never one fled as Colonel Schurz and his gang of freedom shriekers did at Chancellorsville." I am not in the habit of replying to calumny and abuse springing from the impure inspirations of party spirit, but, General Leslie Combs being a fan of note, I deem it proper to avail myself of this opportunity to stop a slander which political enemies seem bent upon sustaining by frequent repetition.

I wish therefore, to say, that, in asserting that "Carl Schurz fled at Chancellorsville," Mr. Leslie Combs LIES. I choose the word "LIES" although with extreme reluctance and regret—upon due consideration of its meaning; for if Mr. Leslie Combs has inquired into the acts, he must know that he is saying what is false; and, if he has made no such inquiry, then he gives with unpardonable levity the sanction of his name to a statement which is most injurious to another man's reputation.

and which he does not now to be true. I wish to add, that, in saying "MR. LESLIE COMBS LIES," I hold myself responsible for what I say. I trust, sirs, you will give this letter the same publicity which you accorded to that of Mr. Leslie Combs.—Yours, respectfully, CARL SCHURZ.

Leaves of the Lilliputians.—The leaves of the Lilliputians—Tom Thumb and wife, Commodore Nutt, and Minnie Warren—commenced at Tremont Temple yesterday. As we anticipated, the spacious hall was thronged, and by delighted crowds. The general's little wife looked charmingly, and was the observed of all observers. She is a pretty as a Venus and as graceful as a Queen. Minnie, her sister, is hardly less attractive, while the General and the Commodore are as entertaining as ever. All things considered, they are the most extraordinary persons that have ever yet appeared in public. The Commodore's performances delight everybody. He is a sort of universal genius—can sing, dance, make speeches, &c., &c. The whole troupe appear in a variety of costumes, and make themselves as agreeable and entertaining as possible.—Boston Post.

It will be seen by an advertisement in today's paper that the "little folks" above mentioned give a series of leaves in this city, commencing Monday, Nov. 23d.

Buried at Sea. One of the many dramatic incidents that occur in the sensational novelty "Buried at Sea" is the very interesting ceremony connected with the burial in mid-ocean. The ship is hoisted to the flag, lowered to half mast, and while they are committing the body to the deep, there is a most weird and awe-inspiring picture thrown before your eyes—the sea running high and the ship pitching unceasingly, great waves crashing each other in the semi-darkness, and a light gale of wind sweeping over the decks. The effects of such a scene last for days in the minds of every on witnessing it. "Buried at Sea" will be the offering at the Myers Grand Saturday.

WHAT IS SOCIALISM?

The following definition to socialism from the Wall Street Journal, is so comprehensive that it is well worth reproducing. It will readily be seen that this country has no use for the doctrine, and that its disciples can never hope to gain a foothold. The fact so tersely stated is not always recognized that "socialism means industrial peace, while progress is based on industrial war."

A reader of this paper writes to ask what is meant by "socialism." The term is very loosely used now-a-days, and means very different things at different times and in different places. Nevertheless, it is possible to make a general definition that will cover the ground.

The one essential principle of socialism is "common ownership" of what are called "the means of production," which ultimately involves the common ownership of practically all property. There are extreme socialists, and there are moderate socialists, differing from each other mainly as to the method by which the ultimate common ownership of property is to be brought about. There are some socialists who openly advocate community of ownership of all property with all that that implies, while there are others who admit that the times are not ripe for this, and do not advocate more than extension of municipal and national ownership of certain industries that might be called public service in character. The latter, however, hold the basic principle, as a theory at all events; and certainly it is that socialism means ownership of property by the society instead of the individual.

Of course socialism is necessarily opposed by its nature of that system of society which has existed in practically all civilized communities for a great many centuries. The right of an individual to hold property is one of the fundamental rights co-equal with the right of the individual to life and liberty. One cannot be abrogated without the others also being abrogated. Socialism, therefore, is flatly opposed to the fundamental principles upon which this government is based, these principles being stated in the Declaration of Independence, and expressed in their application in the constitutions of the United States and the several states. On this point there can be no question.

Some socialists favor the obtaining of their ends by revolution, while others, as they epigrammatically put it, rely upon evolution. Many people who are not socialists believe in municipal ownership of such industries as street railroads, gas companies, electric light companies, etc., on grounds of public policy. Socialists of the less intelligent type profess to draw from municipal ownership of such things an argument in favor of universal socialism, forgetting that the propriety of common ownership of some things does not necessarily mean propriety of common ownership at all. Because a municipality can properly own and operate a street railway or electric lighting plant, and because the government properly operates the post office, it does not follow that either should own newspapers, steel factories, cotton mills, etc. It so happens, however, that while there are many very acute minds in the ranks of socialism, the majority of socialists may fairly be described as men who have "learned to think a little."

The socialist creed is attractive and plausible in a high degree, and is practically unanswerable if it once be admitted that there are no such things as natural rights in existence. In its latest forms, the theory has been drawn out, here and in Europe, in most logical and scientific form, and furnishes a mass of doctrines particularly attractive to a large class of people.

The most practical answer to socialism is to be found in the fact that men are born unequal as to their abilities and that in the long run greater ability will not be content with lesser compensation. If ever socialism is put into practice, there will be an end to economic progress, for socialism means industrial peace, whereas progress is based on industrial war.

TUESDAY NIGHT'S DISCUSSION.

While the Twilight club is not a political organization, it was impossible to discuss the question of last Tuesday evening without reference in various ways to the political situation at the present time in the state. "Wisconsin railway rates" is a topic which has received, and is receiving, more attention than any other problem before the people. A great deal of prejudice exists against railway corporations, and this class of prejudice is being intensified by the attitude of the state administration. Ignorance is largely responsible for these conditions, and it is to be regretted that this lack of knowledge is used by officials in an effort to disturb friendly and wholesome relations.

The audience Tuesday night was representative of Janesville's business men and manufacturers, and the discussion was intelligent and enthusiastic.

The facts were brought out by men who are heavy shippers, that the state is in prosperous condition due largely to the fact that her railway system has kept pace with development. These men who fairly represent the delegation of manufacturers, who waited on the legislature last winter, are neither theorists, nor jugglers with figures.

The much discussed state of Iowa, with its supposed advantages, was handled to the credit of Wisconsin, as any unprejudiced mind will admit.

The fact developed in the course of discussion, that there are no favored shippers, and that all men engaged in the same line of business enjoy uniform rates.

Another fact, that is frequently overlooked by small shippers, was brought out, namely, that 98 percent of Wisconsin's freight belongs to the long haul or interstate class. The other 2 percent is the way freight or merchandise that is shipped in less than car lots.

The fallacy of a rate commission was fully exploited, and it was evident that the shippers do not favor the innovation. The argument was advanced, and well supported, that the railroads are interested in the development of the state, and are not disposed to discriminate against it. It was also urged that while the roads were able to take care of themselves that the money invested was not yielding large returns.

Wisconsin is in good condition, and there is no occasion to look to Iowa, or any other state for comparison.

Manufacturers are prosperous, the people are happy, and it is a good time to let well enough alone.

The coeds, at the Northwestern University are about to strike because of stringent rules, and the boys of Hendricks school Chicago, will follow suit, because their teacher rode on a Wentworth Avenue car. The atmosphere is full of strikes. It is about time for the employers to lock up and walk out.

The Milwaukee Free Press criticizes any man who aspires to be governor, or any paper which has the temerity to suggest a name. The paper is the organ of one man power, and its attitude is not surprising. While the people may be a little slow to comprehend the situation, they will not long submit to this sort of dictation.

The appointment of Assemblyman Brittan, of Beloit as factory inspector is significant, and indicates that the administration is looking after fences in Rock county. Mr. Brittan will make a good official, but he may prove a disappointment as a political leader. Rock county people do their own thinking.

The prospective candidacy of Judge Baenash is meeting with popular endorsement by the republican press of the state. There is plenty of time for an aggressive campaign, but it is well for the party to have a candidate about whom it can rally at the proper time.

The friends of the governor will concede the right of any good republican to aspire to the office which he now holds. There is no occasion for third term sentiment, and there are plenty of good men in the state who would honor the office.

The Chicago Street Car strike promises to be a failure. Conditions are not favorable for labor disturbances, and employees will do well to think twice before walking out. There will be a surplus of labor in every department before spring.

Columbia is having a taste of war brought on by recklessness and indiscretion. The little republic will discover that she can not long block the tide of progress. In the final adjustment the way will be made clear for the Panama canal.

Chicago is competing with New York for the next republican national convention. It will cost either city $100,000 to secure the prize, and it is to be hoped that Chicago will win. The west is entitled to it.

Senator Dietrich, of Nebraska, is under indictment for alleged irregularities.

PRESS COMMENT.

Washington Star: Booker Washington says that one reason why colored people migrate to cities is that there are more schools. Another reason is that there are more cake walks. The colored rural citizen is no more oblivious than the white man to the social allurements of metropolitan life.

New York Telegram: Notice with profound regret that Colonel Henry Watterson lost $300 on a train the other day and had to send home for money. The harrowing details as to what the other man held are not in yet.

Philadelphia Inquirer: After all, perhaps the man who was arrested in Washington because he complained of being pursued by air ships may have been merely a too diligent reader of the news of the day.

Cleveland Plain Dealer: And yet Mr. Schwab was a sick man when he made that ship trust killing. Lots of people are wondering what would have happened if he had been feeling good and strong.

Boston Advertiser: The New York woman who married two husbands within twenty-four hours will probably be given a decree summa cum laude by the divorce section of the Newport summer colony.

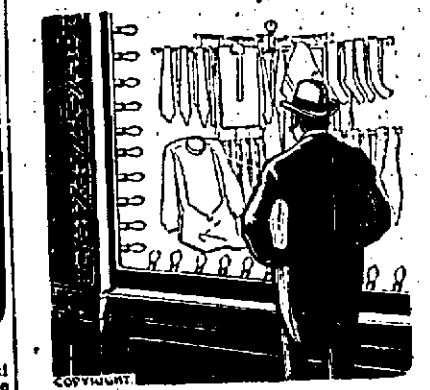

Minneapolis Times: As to the New York man who is said to have wrecked his mind by smoking from sixty to eighty cigarettes a day, did he go crazy because he smoked so many cigarettes, or did he smoke so many cigarettes because he was crazy?

Chicago Inter Ocean: Grave suspicion exists that they are Mormons first, and Americans only second. That is what the appearance of Mr. Smoot in the senate causes uneasiness. The failure of Utah to dispeal that suspicion is why Senator Smoot troubles the public mind and conscience.

Chicago News: A Russian general has been dismissed by the czar because he was cruel to the peasants during a strike. Over in Finland they will believe that story when it is accompanied by a diagram and a few affidavits.

W. C. T. U. Meet: A meeting of the W. C. T. U. was held at the residence of Mrs. Mayhew London, 55 North High street, this afternoon and business of importance was transacted.

NOTED MEETING IS BEING HELD

STATE CONFERENCE OF D. A. R.
IN SESSION.

MANY DELEGATES PRESENT

Local Chapter Is Entertaining the Members of the State
Chapters.

Janesville members of the Daughters of the American Revolution are today entertaining the state conference of the order at the Congregational church. Nearly seventy-five members of the order from the seventeen chapters throughout the state are present and aside from the chapter regents and delegates many members of the different chapters in adjacent cities are also in attendance. Some of the visitors from the northern part of the state arrived last evening but the majority came this morning.

The session opened with the Lord's prayer at 10:30 this morning. This was followed by the singing of America. Miss Catharine Field, the regent of the Janesville chapter, then made the address of welcome in which she gave the visiting delegates and regents and visiting members a most hearty welcome to the Bower City. Miss Atwood of Madison, the regent of the John Bell chapter responded in well chosen words, thanking the Janesville chapter for their kindness and hospitality in entertaining the state conference.

Other Business
The minutes of the last annual conference were then read and approved the report of the meeting of the Wisconsin delegates at Washington was told of by Mrs. S. S. Merrill of Milwaukee. The reports of the chapter regents were then begun. At 12:30 an adjournment was taken for lunch which was served in the parlors of the Congregational church. This was a tasteful repast and charmingly served under the directions of the committee of the local chapter.

Afternoon Session
Mrs. John G. Rexford opened the afternoon session with the singing of The Star Spangled Banner, which was followed by the report of the credential committee given by Mrs. Josiah T. Wright. The report of the state regent was then given, followed by the reports of the remainder of the chapter regents' reports. Mrs. Walter Kempster, regent of the Milwaukee chapter, then read the report of the national chairman of the committee on flag desecration. The permanent organization of the state conference was then taken up and the consideration of the amendments to be presented to the national congress, discussed. The meeting closed with the completion of the miscellaneous business.

List of Delegates
The following is the list of delegates and chapter regents in attendance at the session: Miss C. Field, regent, Mrs. Ada P. Kimberley, Hon. state regent, Mrs. Fanny H. Wright, Del., Janesville; Mrs. Mary Dow, regent, Mrs. E. Hansen, Del., Beloit; Mrs. A. M. J. Rankin, Sub. Reg., Mrs. L. B. Carpenter, Del., Ft. Atkinson; Mrs. Lucke, Sub. Reg., Miss L. M. Mosher, Del., Waupun; Mrs. L. M. Fargo, Reg., Mrs. C. A. Douglas, Del., Lake Mills; Mrs. S. M. Hart, Reg., Racine; Mrs. E. M. H. Peck, Hon. State Reg., Milwaukee; Mrs. M. C. VanOstrand, Reg., Antigo; Miss M. L. Atwood, Reg., Mrs. F. B. Fairchild, Del., Madison; Mrs. G. W. Carleton, Sub. Reg., Waukesha; Mrs. M. L. Alverson, Reg., Mrs. Clark Latimer, Portage; Mrs. Walter Kempster, Milwaukee; Mrs. R. F. Perry, Reg., Mrs. S. R. Ryan, Del., Reedsburg; Mrs. Gilkey, Reg., Mrs. E. M. Crane, Del., Oshkosh.

Officers Elected
This afternoon Mrs. Ogden H. Fethers was elected vice-regent; Mrs. Frank B. Hoskins of Fond du Lac, secretary; and Mrs. F. S. Hadley of Milwaukee, treasurer.

Window Display
J. M. Bostwick & Sons have one of the most artistic window displays ever shown in the city of Janesville. It is in honor of the D. A. R. state conference which is being held here today. The center features of the window and the figures of the women and a child, all beautifully dressed, draped with smilax, the likeness of George and Martha Washington. A background of "Old Glory" throws there into relief, making an artistic effect. Between the figures of the women is a cord bearing the inscription, "Welcome Daughters of the American Revolution. We keep your memory green."

Its Forming
The meeting of the state conference of the D. A. R. recalls the founding of this patriotic society of women. The immediate cause was the exclusion of women from the society of the Sons of the American Revolution at Louisville, Ky.

Five women of Washington, D. C., were roused to action and a meeting was held October 11, 1890, when an organization was effected. The founders of the Daughters of the American Revolution numbered eighteen loyal and enthusiastic women.

Since this meeting held thirteen years ago the society has accomplished untold good in perpetrating the memory of the heroes of the Revolution. Historical research has been encouraged; especially among the children of America. The giving of prizes has stimulated the young people to know better the history of their country. The newspapers have recorded from year to year what has been accomplished in the preservation of historic places. The first one to be built anew was the monument of Mary Washington at Fredericksburg, Va., which was desecrated by the relic hunters during the civil war.

A membership in the D. A. R. depends upon the deeds of ancestors rather than upon the position or personal gratification of its members. The genealogist must be patient and untiring. The archives are not complete, an ancestral data of a grandmother's death may prove a stumbling block in the family history to the unrelenting man or woman who passes upon the credentials to membership in this society. One owes a debt of gratitude to the Daughters of the American Revolution for taking the initiative in forming a society which stimulates a proper respect for our ancestors and a love of country.

TROUBLES FOR BEET SHIPPERS

MAKES SHIPMENTS DIFFICULT.

FARMERS TO VISIT THE PLANT

Will Go to Menominee Falls Early in December—Half the Crop Harvested.

Shipments to the sugar beet factory in Menominee Falls have been started again and about half of the entire crop has been shipped. An average of six cars per day are filled now and unless the factory cannot handle a greater supply next week, the number will probably be increased although the difficulty of obtaining cars continues to be great.

Much Work
Walter Helms, who has charge of the shipments, has troubles of his own, for to get farmers to haul their beets at the right time is one proposition, and although not an easy one, it can be accomplished, but getting the empty cars side-tracked at the proper time and in the right quantity is altogether a different question and one not so easily solved.

Lack of Cars
Up to this time there have been but few times when the railroad furnished the cars in sufficient quantities. Usually when the foreman has asked for six or a dozen cars, there would usually be one or two sent. The continual lack of facilities in this respect has caused some farmers considerable trouble.

Shipment Stopped Last Week
Last week for several days the factory was unable to take any beets and so consequently shipments were at a standstill. This delay was caused by the overcrowded condition of the plant as the apparatus could not dispose of the great quantities of the crop which have arrived at the plant.

Will Visit Factory
The plan of having a number of Rock county farmers visit the sugar company at Menominee Falls has been arranged to take place early in December as the worst of the work will be over at that time. Mr. Helms believes that there will be no further delay in the sending out of the crop unless there is a greater car famine. He says that the railroad appears to have the cars, but the difficulty is in getting them empty at the right time.

In recognition of the merits of the Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills for the relief of headache and pain, to which nearly every one is subject more or less, arrangements have been made whereby the Dr. Miles Medical Co. will furnish a free trial package of these wonderful little tablets free to the subscribers of this paper.

RAILWAY CASES ARE DISPOSED OF

of the Coming Joyce Trial.

The opening days of the November term of the circuit court have passed and several cases have been disposed of without attracting attention and the court room will probably not be crowded until December 1st when the fate of Thomas Joyce, the alleged murderer, will be decided. In speaking of Joyce's trial, in the municipal court last summer, the city hall officials recently mentioned the fact that they were thankful there was not another in prospect for the crowds which filled the court room and corridors during the examination of Joyce kept the building in a bedraggled condition.

"It was impossible to keep the floors anyway near clean," said Janitor Phillips, the other day. "There was plenty of mud on the streets too, at that time, to be tracked into the building by the crowds of morbidly curious people." The first jury trial of the November term occurred yesterday and the question to be decided was whether a contract had been broken or not. L. Thompson rented a farm in the town of La Prairie of D. Q. Stark for a term of five years. After working the farm for four years, Thompson left and Stark brought suit for failure to perform contract. Thompson put in a counter claim and early yesterday afternoon the jury after being out for over an hour returned a verdict of no cause for action. Smith and Pierce represented the plaintiff and J. J. Cunningham the defendant.

Three cases against the Northwestern railroad have also been settled. The claim of Carl Boehm was settled out of court for $400. This was for damages to his horse and buggy and for expenses connected with his wife's death which was caused by a railway crossing accident. In the case of Arthur Boehm, infant son, who was injured at the same time a verdict by consent was given for $100. Patrick H. Arner was allowed a total of $228.50 for the loss of his horse which was killed on the North-Western road tracks this summer. In the three latter cases, Edward H. Ryan represented the plaintiffs, and Edward M. Hyzer was attorney for the road. Dr. Sifton, surgeon for the railroad in this state, was here and examined the injuries of Arthur Boehm.

FISH-TUG SANK AT KOSHKONONG

IN THURSDAY'S GALE, WHILE
NEARLY MILE FROM SHORE.

CREW HAD A NARROW-ESCAPE

As Blast of Wind Keel'd Craft Over
On Side, They Jumped for the Yawl-Boat.

The work of cleaning the carp out of Lake Koshkonong came perilously near ending with a terrible tragedy last Thursday. While the men were at work on the little tug paying out the net the fierce gusts of wind several times caused the little craft to heel over on her side and take in water. In every case she righted herself without shipping much water and the crew felt comparatively safe.

Boat Is Swamped
The tug was nearly a mile from shore when those on board finally became thoroughly alarmed, and were preparing to make for shore. The wind had steadily increased in violence and finally a terrible blast from the north struck the little vessel and almost overturned her. The crew sprang to the yawl boat and got clear just as the craft with her hold half filled with water and the fires out, began to sink. A few moments later all but her pilot-house was under water.

Work Is Abandoned
The men thanked the good fortune that let them to take the yawl with them, and made all haste to get ashore, leaving the tug to her fate. No efforts were made to raise her until the storm had subsided. The fishing has been abandoned for the time being. Deputy Game Warden Drafahl who was in the city today, said that work would not be resumed until the ice freezes two inches or more.

"I could trust you with all my troubles, and I have more than one," Faith answered, impulsively. She raised the sweetest eyes, all bright and large with tears, to his—eyes of gratitude and absurd belief. And Darcie forgot that he had anything in his consciousness to settle with before he could meet such a look from her eyes or receive such a trust. Mike remarked him uneasily, and confided to the fire his opinion that "wan fool makes many," and that (the old man is not the only wan that's off his base this night!) He held open the door of the cabin, and let his light shine out, while Darcie put the young lady into her saddle. The restive horse sprang about over the stones, and, one behind the other, clattered down the ledge where the trail was narrow and steep. The girl looked back, and Mike for long afterward could not forget the sweet, half-apprehensive glance she gave Darcie as he drove his horse forward to her side. The wet trees closed and shut them in. "That's the way he settles the question of indistinctness," said Mike, as he shut the cabin door. "I'll be bound he never gets her the edge, but just sided in for himself. He's a very limber lad, and I have not the measure of him in my mind, entirely. But I'm wild him; I'm solid for ye, me little Darcie."

AN EQUIVOCAL POSITION.

The manager's residence at the Big Horn is the first house above the bridge, where the wagon road joins the trail. It has a high gallery across the second-story front, overlooking the gulch; which is reached by long windows from the rooms opening upon it, and by an outside staircase from the ground. The gallery forms the roof of a cement-floored porch in front of the lower entrance, a favorite evening lounging-place for the men employed at the mine when they are fortunate enough to be on good terms with Miss Steers, the manager's housekeeper.

On the night of Mr. Bligh's detention at the Black Dwarf, two friends of Miss Steers and several friends of theirs were sitting on chairs tipped back against the house wall, under the shadow of the gallery, talking in low voices and not smoking, an unusual precaution, denoting secrecy. They ceased speaking as soon as horses' feet were heard approaching, but concluding that, as they came by way of the trail, it must be the manager returning home with his daughter, they did not trouble to look out.

The moon was shining on the wet roofs, sheening them with silver; the tamarack timber up the gulch supplied the contrast of pitch-blackness broadened by impenetrable masses of shadow. Gleams from the house-lights revealed the figures of two young people who had dismounted and were parting at the foot of the gallery stairs.

"I will say good night here, and so many thanks!" The girl's voice trembled on the stillness.

"That's not her father," one of the listeners whispered. The men became mute, scarcely breathing from excess of attention.

"I would ask you to come in, but I have my little part, you know—and I should hate to have you hear me say it," Faith apologized. She spoke with greater freedom, in a full, low voice charged with womanly feeling. The ride through the dark woods had proved to be one of those perilous, short cuts to sudden intimacy, for better or worse, by which the way of acquaintance is bridged for the young and fearless. The life of the frontier is remarkably productive of such opportunities, and it seems to be a question of family and past history with the high contracting parties, whether these facile roads lead to the divorce courts and the newspapers, or to those faithful and inconspicuous comradeships which we all know of, and seldom read of, in the published stories of the west; western marriages being like western mortgages—it is the ones that don't pay interest of which we chiefly hear.

"What shall you say if anybody asks you questions?" Faith inquired.

"Is it necessary to say anything?"

"I have to say things; the moment the door opens I have to be ready with my lie."

"We had better say the same thing, hadn't we?" Darcie suggested. "What do you generally call it when he is—"

"What?"

"You have some name for it, haven't you? Headache, indigestion, cramps?"

"Oh, mercy!" the girl implored. "Say again what you said at the cabin. I thought it perfectly imbecile at the time, but I suppose it will do as well as anything."

"He'd been peering down the mountain at a—"

"Not on a brute of a horse! Everybody knows what Colonel is."

"Got himself wet to the skin," Darcie recited. "Ate a monstrous supper too soon after—"

"He ate no supper at all! Don't say things you needn't say, just for the pleasure of inventing."

"Leave out the supper, then. But the supper's the best reason of all."

"And this you call a little thing!" cried Faith, tragically.

"Did I say little? I meant it was a common thing."

"Well, men surely are not proud! This, then, is the common weakness!"

"Almost any weakness is common with our half of humanity," Darcie allowed; "but God knows, a man may be easy on a fault that's not his own!"

"The young men have no faults, I suppose," Faith exclaimed, bitterly.

"Charity and forgiveness are for the poor, slipshod fathers, too old to be cured of their weakness!" It was her "wound's imperious anguish" that spoke in this unnatural tone.

Darcie answered humbly, constrained by the pricking of his conscience, and not unwilling, perhaps, to draw her attention upon himself:

"I know one young man who is in need of forgiveness—of yours; if you could spare him a little of it, I wish to confess, before I leave you, to a fault in my position toward yourself—a most damaging, fatal inconsistency."

"A fault—toward me? You must be dreaming! When have you ever seen me before to-night?"

"Never; and yet I did you an unconscious injury before I knew of your existence. I am in a cruelly equivocal position."

"I am not in a very nice position myself," Faith grieved.

"But it is not your own doing. I am speaking of acts—my own, on my own responsibility."

"Cannot you get out of this position?"

"I shall be out of it by to-morrow's eastern mail. But I want your forgiveness to-night. The thing sticks in my record; I don't know what moment it might turn up and injure me with you."

"I don't think it can be very serious," said Faith. "If you can get out of it so easily, I wish I could send all my worries away by to-morrow's eastern mail, if I were sure they would not travel to anybody I care for!"

"But my forgiveness?" the penitent persisted, in love with confessing to such a confessor.

"Why, I forgive you anything, everything. What is there I am not bound to forgive, after to-night?"

"But I do not want it that way. You shall not be bound. Let us be more explicit; suppose I should tell you plainly that I am not what you think I am?"

"I think you are a gentleman and a true friend. Are you not that?" asked Faith.

"I am so, and much more—as much more as your friend, as you will allow."

"The lie, enough," said Faith, hurriedly. "Yes; enough to thank Heaven for, after such a night as this! Think of the place where I might have been left! Now, good night, and more thanks than I can say!"

But Darcie would not take his dismissal. "Just I go?" he frankly despaired. "And I have not the dimmest idea how I shall ever see you again."

"But I am always here, if you really wish to see me," Faith smiled sedately in the darkness. "It would be strange if we forgot all about you, after what you have done for us."

"That is the last thing I should wish you to remember me for!" Darcie burned her gratitude.

"Well, I can't help but thank you, whether you like it or not. If my father should ask you to dinner, would you despise that sort of remembrance, too?"

There was an unexpected silence. Then Darcie said:

"It is not likely I shall be asked to dine at the Big Horn. The Black Dwarf is a small affair and I am—a miner—partner of Mike McGowan."

"A miner may be anybody," said Faith. She spoke coldly, and Darcie, though he could not see her face, knew she was hurt. He was furious with his absurd entanglements, from which he longed to tear himself free, all at once, before it should be too late; he could not even tell her what they were.

"You think I am mysterious?"

"I have no reason to think so; no mystery is needed to account for your not caring to dine with my father—after to-night."

"Heaven and earth!" groaned Darcie. "I told you it would stick. Yet you would understand it, if I could only tell you."

"I will understand," said Faith, quickly. "Without understanding. Good night!"

He kept hold of her hand while she hurriedly warned him: "I heard them go to the other door, but they are coming here now. Good night—you must go!"

"Please—one moment!" he entreated. "There was something I wanted to say to you—just for the last word, to remember. Do you know a flower they call the mountain lily? You never could forget it if you saw it! I never knew before to-night why it was here—the exquisite thing—a perfect wonder! But every coming has its heralds; there are foretokens of joy as well as sorrow. I found you when I found the mountain lily. Oh, do you understand me—my joy—my sorrow? Which is it going to be? No; I don't ask you! Don't tell me!"

"You are crazy!" gasped Faith.

"I know it. But at least there's excuse for it. I have found you, my mountain lily!"

He dropped his face an instant on her hand. Then he rushed for his horse and rode away.

"Where are you going?" Faith called after him, for he had taken, or rather

"Good night—you must go!"

Colonel had taken, the lower road, to the stable. Faith's horse, tied to the hitching post, whinnied after his comrade. Darcie did not hear the girl's call, but he had discovered his mistake, and was making it unpleasant for Colonel. There was a scuffling of hoofs in the road, a grunt from the horse as he was forced around in the way he did not want to go, and back they came, and charged up the trail into the deep timber. Faith had laughed weakly until she cried. She was shocked at herself for laughing; but that was not why she cried.

"O, father, father!" she whispered, tragically. But that was not why she cried. There was a stir underneath the dark porch, after the girl had gone slowly, giddily, up the stairs, and the house door had shut.

"That horse was Colonel. Where's the old man, then?" a voice inquired. (To be Continued.)

YOUR MONEY RETURNED.

If Hyomel Does Not Cure You of Catarrh, Says King's Pharmacy and Peoples Drug Co.

In advertising that they will refund the money to any one purchasing a Hyomel outfit who can say that it has done them no good in the treatment of catarrh, they mean exactly what the guarantee says.

Of course the percentage of cures by Hyomel is nearly one hundred or else they could not afford to make this unusual offer. But if the treatment should not be adapted to your case there will be no questions asked or quibblings when you go to get your money.

That the beginning of catarrh is due to the presence of germs in the air passages is now admitted by every physician. It stands to reason that catarrh cannot be cured unless these germs are first destroyed. The Hyomel treatment kills the catarrh germs even in the minutest air cells, soothes and heals the irritated mucous membrane and makes complete and lasting cures in cases that have resisted the usual method of treatment.

Catarrh cannot be cured by medicines administered through the stomach. Hyomel is the only natural method and it has made cures that seem miraculous. The outfit costs but $1.00 and consists of an inhaler which will last a lifetime and sufficient Hyomel for several weeks treatment. Additional bottles of Hyomel can be procured for 50c.

King's Pharmacy and Peoples Drug Co., give their personal guarantee with every Hyomel outfit they sell to refund the money if it does not cure. There is no risk whatever to the purchaser of Hyomel.

ENCOUNTER WITH HUGE BLACK BEAR

J. E. Inman Killed Big Fellow in Sawyer County After Companion Had Kicked It in the Nose.

"Well, there is certainly no discount on that bear, Inman," said several spectators as the Janesville hunter unloaded the 500 pound carcass from the baggage car at the North-Western depot last night. "Look at those tusks—me for the tall timber with those customers around!" "His hide ought to cover a sitting-room floor!" "How'd you like to get a love-pat with one of those terrific claws?" were the expressive, if ungrammatical ejaculations of the bystanders.

The Hunter's Story.

J. E. Inman, a modest man and it was with great difficulty that the story of the hunt was extracted from him. With C. H. Duxton, a nimrod from Viola, he plunged into the wilderness of Sawyer county early last week in search of deer. They met with indifferent success and Friday evening found them in the vicinity of Thornapple Creek, not far from Raynor and about fifteen miles from Ladysmith. It was in accordance with the fitness of things and names that Mr. Inman should be carrying a Boer rifle—a Marlin—with a guaranteed penetration of 50 inches of pine, a muzzle velocity of 2,000 feet, and a point blank range of 300 yards.

In the Pine Slashings.

Sometime before sun-up, Saturday morning, Mr. Inman and his companion started for the run-way in the pine slashings which had been remarked on the previous afternoon. As they trudged through the forest, the sound of their footfalls deadened by the deep carpet of snow that had covered the ground, the silence became almost oppressive. Yet neither spoke.

Duxton Kicks a "Hedgehog"

They had reached the run-way and were passing a great stump, hollow at the bottom, whose outlines were just discernible in the faint. Duxton halted. He had seen the nose of some beast, presumably a porcupine, sticking out of the hole in the stump. He approached the stump and launched a vicious kick at the nose. This effort was followed by a reverberating roar that shook the surrounding forest and awoke the denizens therein. It was followed by the uncanny screams of birds, the answering call of some solitary wolf, and other noises that the two nimrods hope never to hear again.

First Shot Kills

As if they had wondrously tapped some outlet of the infernal region a huge black mass began to issue from the stump. But the doughty Inman never wavered. He stood waiting, with the gun raised to his shoulder, not twenty feet distant. He took deliberate aim and fired. The brass bullet entered the great black bear's head just above the muzzle, and the lumbering carcass fell to the ground with a thud.

A Daniel Boone

People who were not there presume to claim that the bear didn't roar but was only muttering in its sleep about the encroachments of land-seekers who had devoured the berries and compelled him to begin his long winter's nap on an empty stomach. They also aver that Bruin fell to the ground unconscious when he saw Inman. These traducers are invited to try a little bear-hunting themselves.
